The place of the mother tongue in the matter of education can not be denied. It has to be encouraged and developed so that it can become the effective medium of teaching and intercourse within the State. All regional languages must, in due course, become the languages of the courts and legislatures. English is a well developed international language, and it has been the official language of the center and states for over a century. It has been and continues to be the binding force of intelligentsia of the country. In a vast multilingual country like ours, every common link language, culture and interest should be encouraged for developing a sense of national unity. It is necessary that regional languages Hindi and English are vigorously cultivated. Language and culture are the most powerful integrating factors in the life of the people.
